Palantir is proud to announce a three-year renewal of its contract with the DGSI, France's domestic intelligence agency, extending a partnership that has been ongoing for nearly a decade.

Alex Karp, co-founder and CEO of Palantir, said: "We are very proud to support the DGSI in its crucial work in the service of France and its fight against terrorism. This contract renewal reaffirms Palantir's commitment to serving the interests of France since 2016, and ensuring the security of the People of France.
